in this thoughtful and revelatory book wood explores enduring and powerful theories on art creativity and what jung called the creative spirit in order to illuminate how artists can truly understand what it means to be a creator by bringing together insights on creativity from some of depth psychology's most iconic thinkers such as C. G. Jung, James Hillman, and Joseph Campbell, as well as featuring a selection of creators who have been influenced by these ideas such as Martha Graham, Mary Oliver, Stanley Kunitz, and Ursula K. Le Guin. This book explores archetypal thought and the role of the artist in society. This unique approach emphasizes the foundational need to understand and work with the unconscious forces that underpin a creative calling, deepening our understanding of the transformational power of creativity and the vital role of the artist in the modern world. Acting as a touchstone for inquiries into the nature of creativity and of the soul, this enlightening book is perfect for artists and creators of all types, as well as Jungian analysts and therapists and academics interested in the arts, humanities, and depth psychology.

Since the late 19th century when the new science of psychology and interest in esoteric and occult phenomena converged, leading to the discovery of the unconscious, the dual disciplines of depth psychology and mysticism have been wed in an often unholy union, continuing in this tradition and the challenges it carries. This volume includes a variety of interdisciplinary approaches to the study of depth psychology, mysticism, and mystical experience, spanning the fields of theology, religious studies, and the psychology of religion. Chapters include inquiries into the nature of self and consciousness, questions regarding the status and limits of mysticism and mystical phenomena, and approaches to these topics from multiple depth psychological traditions.

metaphor and imaginal psychology a hermetic reflection provides the first full length exploration of the significance of metaphor in post jungian psychology its portrayal of the mythological figure of hermes as a personification of metaphor marks an original contribution to the field of metaphor studies after a 2 500 year exile from philosophy and related areas of study beginning with plato s ejection of the poets from the ideal city state metaphor is today experiencing a season of renewal among the fields where its significance as a way of seeing thinking and feeling has been especially prominent is archetypal psychology perhaps the most philosophically attuned of psychological disciplines approaching the work of james hillman and other key archetypal psychologists from a poststructuralist perspective metaphor and imaginal psychology draws insightful comparisons between archetypal psychology and the deconstructive philosophy of jacques derrida a principle theorist of metaphor s philosophical resurgence by linking two disciplines that might at first appear as strange bedfellows metaphor and imaginal psychology underscores the influence of metaphor in reason and emotion and makes a compelling case for the mercurial ethos of our postmodern world aside from representing essential reading for therapists and theorists working in post jungian studies the book will appeal to readers students and scholars of literary criticism psychology philosophy and mythology
